I hope my analysis class didn't cause you too much grief – you'll get over it.
Perhaps some of it might be of use to you someday.

Bruce,
I'll never forget you! You're the only guy who could ever make Laskey house.
Chemistry & Physics would have been even more boring without you being there to liven things up a bit. Take it easy in the future. I hate to have to send some flowers to a funeral home because you took after your brother, Bill. Have fun in whatever you do & remember me. I'll probably see you at a game sometime. Take care & Good Luck!!!
See ya,
Lisa

October 10, 1974 seemed more like October 10, 1954 as C.H.S. turned back the clock. '50's Day was part of an effort to promote homecoming. One week was devoted to emphasizing school spirit. The five days were: Eat Em Up Day, Security Day, '50's day, Indians Day, and Orange and Black Day. On '50's day there was much participation from both students and faculty. The girls wore long full skirts with white blouses. The best examples of men's fashion during the '50's are pictured at left. From left to right are: Glenn (Bruno) Darling, Ed (Toad) Danek, Bob (Fonzie) Bell, Don (Zits) Jagos, Joe (Weed) Toma, Ron (Cookie) Stewart, and Randy (Snake) Mayhew.

C.H.S.--I'm Gonna Miss It

Freshmen--
I can remember when I began-- confused and lost
Curious but excited
Sophomores--
I too can remember then,
When everything was
Learning, but fun.
Juniors--
If I may recall
The friends the joy, laughter and all
The ACT,
The SAT,
Friday nights and games
I couldn't wait until
I was--
And now--
I am
The Senior--
I am still
Confused, and excited
And there is still
Learning and friends
And Friday nights
And Football games,
But you know,
When I'm gone,
I'm gonna miss it.

make final year reality for seniors of 1975

First, it was the pictures to be taken, then the announcements to be printed. The third step to make was the caps and gowns to be fitted. The last step to be taken was... A final, reflective look at the past.

Interest in Communication Skills seems evident in the faces of the seniors that are pictured below. Student attention in this class is easy to achieve because of the nature of the class. It is always interesting. There is a friendly attitude among the seniors which adds to the cooperation and so aids learning in the class.

Working proves to be rewarding

Working, whether it be in the office, kitchen, or halls is a healthy break from the books. Not only does it help as a change of pace, it can also provide a learning experience for seniors who are approaching the end of their high school years. Making the school run smoothly is a hard task, but there are many student helpers to aid the Administration.

Recipe for a senior: Unified enthusiasm, imagination, fun, ambition

What does it take to make a good senior year? We asked a few 12th year veterans and here's what they told us: "togetherness...fun weekends...a good sports season...interesting classes...good friends... good grades...open campus...consideration for underclassmen...more freedom...more responsibility... parties...a lot of laughs and keeping a good head..." Mix it all together and one has created "Senior Success", a recipe worth saving.

Student Council did their best to line up Assemblies with learning as well as entertainment value. Some of the assemblies we have had were the Chesaning High School Choir, who sang many Christmas songs. The songs were both seasonal and religious. General Motors sent a man to show some of the inventions that they have thought of in the past. He demonstrated the difference between wearing and not wearing a seatbelt. Some of the other assemblies were the band at the Thanksgiving assembly, the ESP expert and the Singer who brought his band on tape.

Each weekend offers 57 hours of freedom that equals different things to every senior. For the average person it may equal the combination of attending or participating in an hour and a half basketball or football game. While for others partying can go on for hours!

Of course, there are some things that any "normal" senior would consider a must, such as 23 hours of sleep per weekend, spending the day visiting a college campus, four hours of babysitting, horseback riding or even doing a little of their shopping.

Reach out to the world.

Each year we take a step farther

We must go on and take the lead

Although new ones come in,

We will move on

From one year to another

Never stopping, Just movin' on!

It's always nice to have friends to talk to and have fun with. But everybody likes to be alone to think out ideas, and to just do what they want. As shown in the picture at right, people can accept others as they really are.

Looking into the future

At an assembly early this year volunteers were requested to help the speaker. Barb Wilbur was asked to pick a card from the deck and the speaker told her what the card was. Needless to say, Barb and the entire audience were pleasantly amazed.

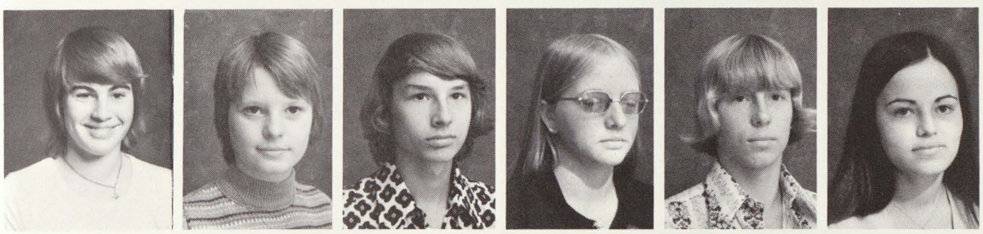

Who's first?

Sophomores show School Spirit

Sophomores have shown their school spirit in more ways than one. Teamwork and determination, as well as class spirit, earned the sophomore float second place in the Homecoming float competition.

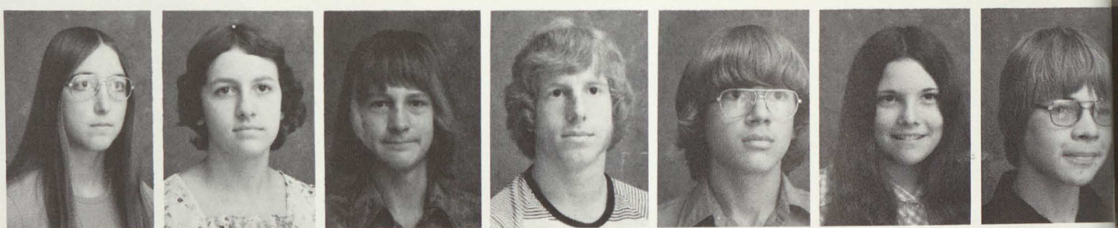

The class of '77 also used their vocal chords during a football pep session to win a class cheering contest; an honor usually won by the Juniors and Seniors.

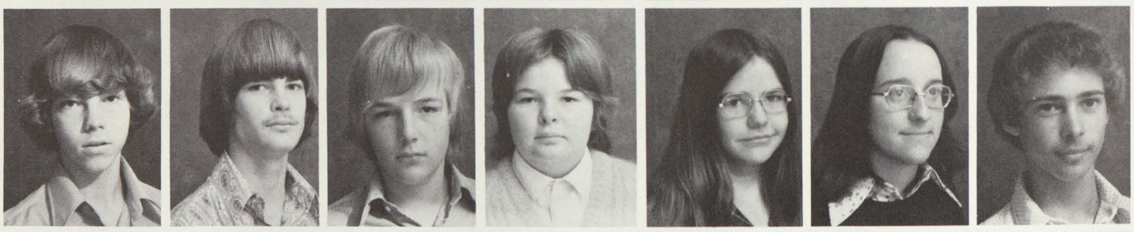

The sophomores came in third in the Y-Teens Toy Drive.

Class rings

"Should I get the stone cut or not?"

"Do you think a square, silver and green will look all right on me?"

"I'll be paying for this for the rest of the year!"

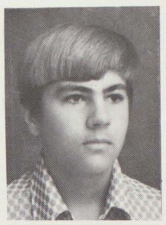

There are two big days in a sophomore's School year, the day the class rings are ordered and the day they arrive. The months between the two are spent in anxious anticipation and suspense. Some kids even forget what they ordered. When the rings finally do arrive the reactions run from "Wow, I Love It!" to "I ordered this? Yuck!"

"I want 'em all!"

It's the mid-year doldrums again; when you wish you were out of school and somewhere else, or at least a senior. Your favorite class is about as much fun as brushing your teeth, and your least favorite class is almost driving you insane.

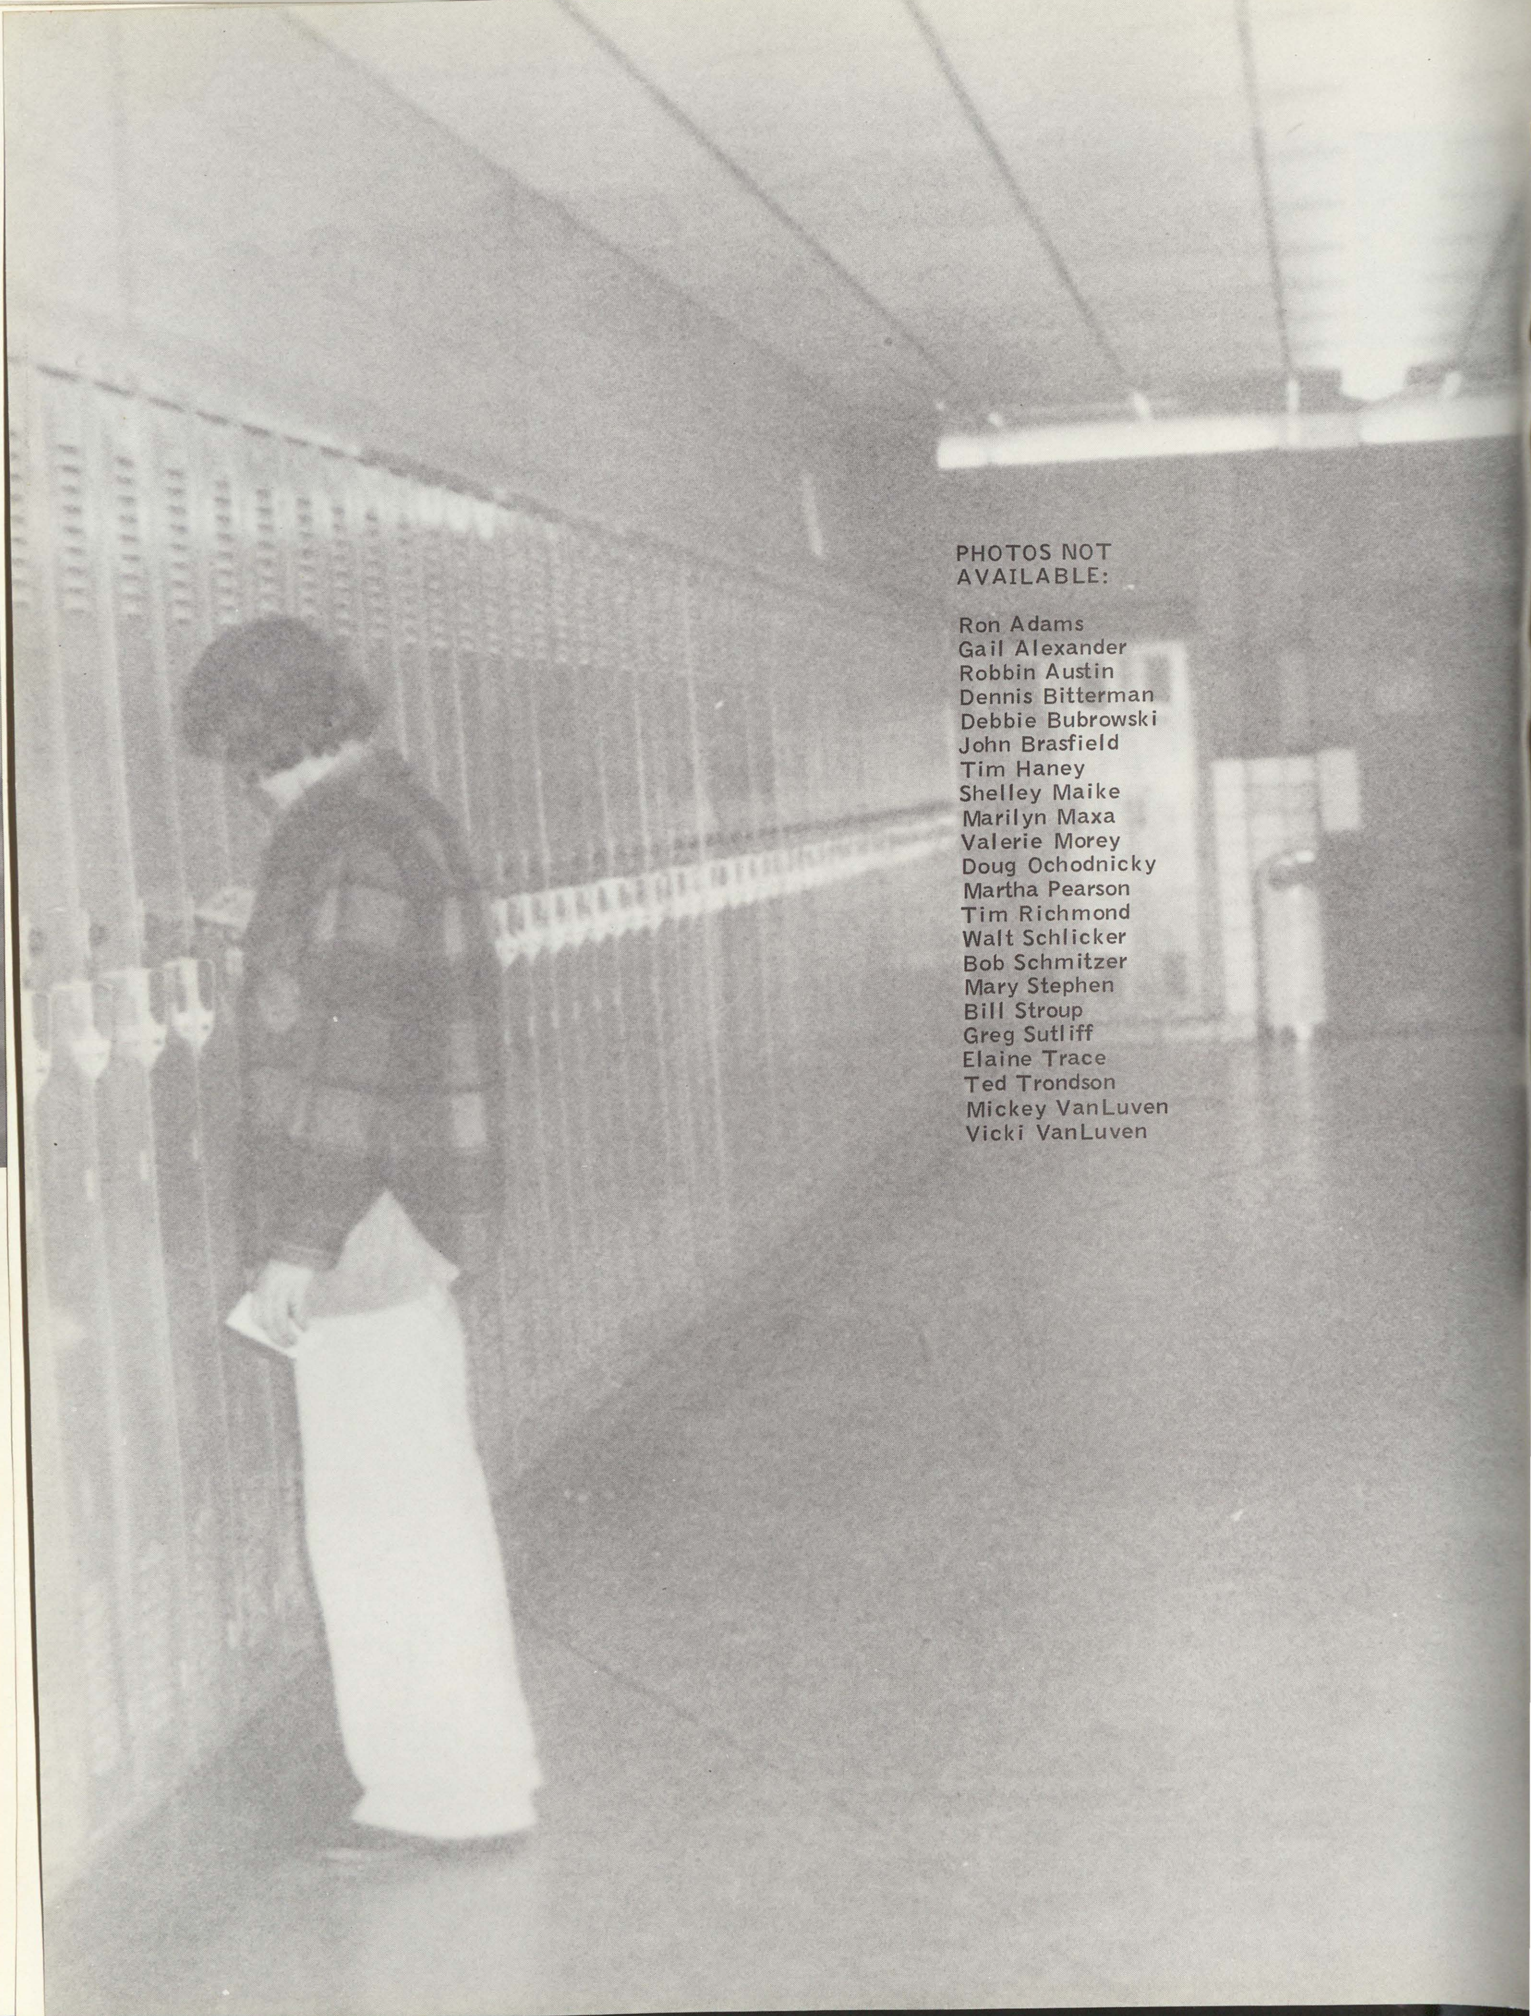

There is no known cure for sophomoritis...just hope that you live long enough to see it become junioritis.

Deb Boyd seems to find Mr. Richey quite enjoyable, but Judy Shinsky looks rather bored.

Pat Brown and Cindy Walker working out their float ideas.

This year's freshman float was unsuccessful in its attempt to win the homecoming contest. The float was only about three-fourths done. The freshman float's failure was due to the lack of cooperation of the freshman class and its inexperience in designing of floats. Now that the freshmen are more experienced next year's grand prize await's them.

A refrain for Freshmen

As freshmen we enter this building. As seniors we leave it, sometimes a better person than when we entered, sometimes not.

From the day we walk into this establishment to the day we leave, certain things are expected of us all.

As freshmen we cannot right-out handle the new responsibilities being thrown at us.

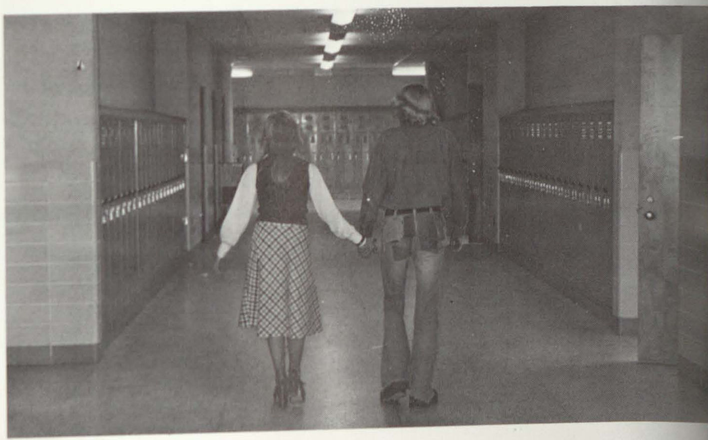

As sophomores we begin to feel more at ease with ourselves and life in general.

As juniors we feel we have conquered the world and by doing so we feel we know it all.

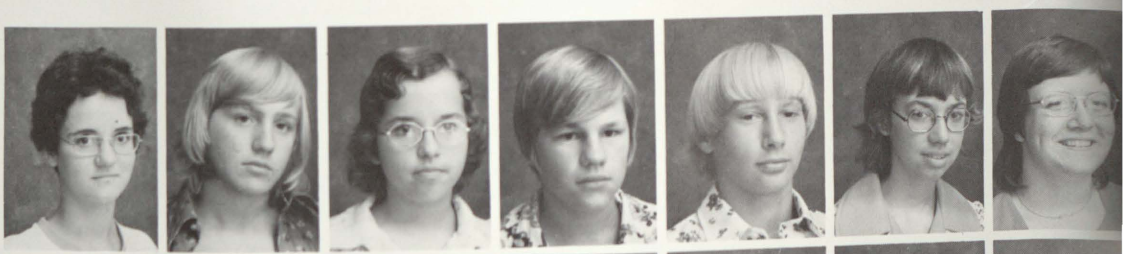

And as seniors, we realize we have spent 3 years of our lives here determining what our responsibilities are.

As freshmen we enter this building, As seniors we leave it, sometimes a better person than we entered, sometimes not.

STUDENT LIFE

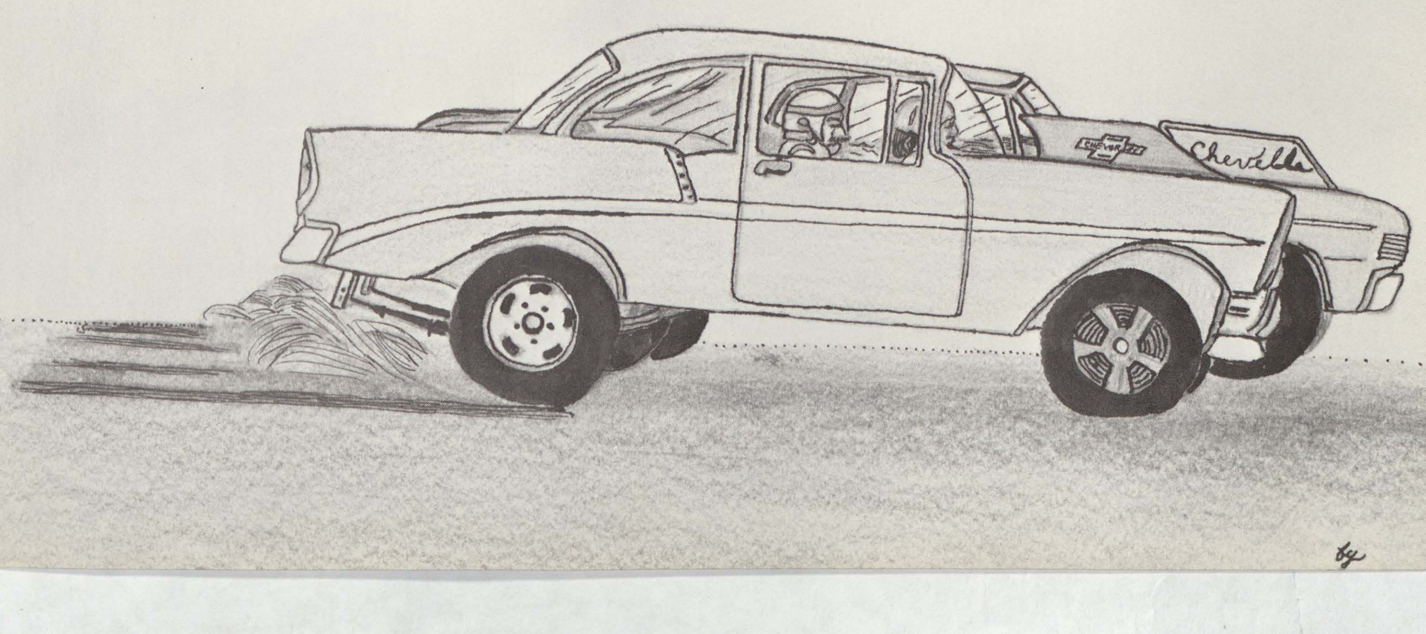

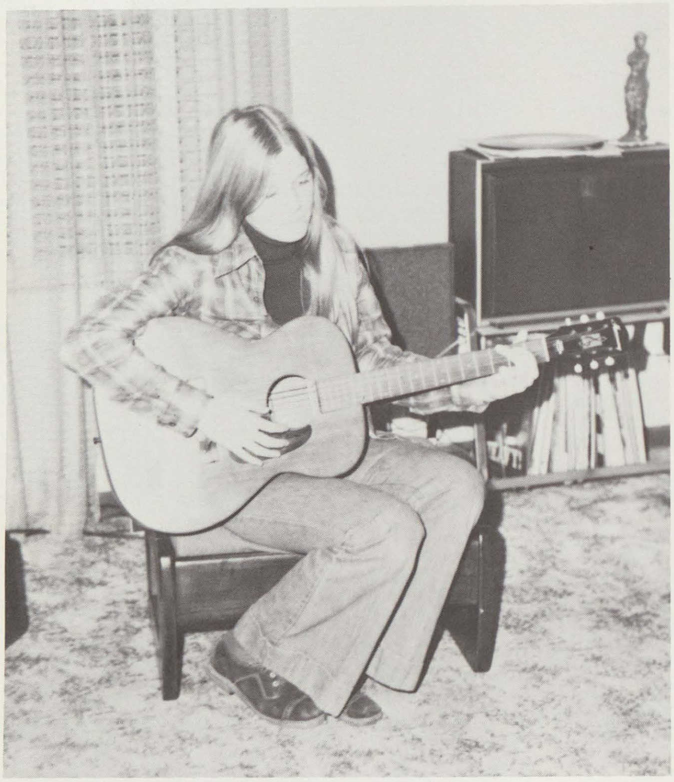

Many of the students of Chesaning High School have hobbies. There are others who just enjoy doing all kinds of things whether it be with other people or just by themselves. High school takes up an important portion of a student's life, but to make his or her life meaningful, that person must find ways to fill the rest of those waking hours. Education is indeed important in the molding of the character of a person but for the modern person the three R's are not enough to survive in this world. One of the biggest requirements for getting along in the world is learning how to get along with its inhabitants. The next few pages are devoted to telling what happens when 3:10 rolls around and all the students have gone home to their "other lives".

There seems to be no fear of the "king of beasts" At Left. Shelly Howell looks on as Rosanne Nathan sits upon the head of the lion and Lois Macek dares to stick her head into his mouth.

(Below) Sue Haney, Glenn Darling, Deb Haney, Helen Kukulis and Martha Bates spend some of their evening relaxing and dining at Showboat Lounge.

Some students take a long time getting prepared for an evening out. When they are finished with their last minute touches, they are ready to go.

Sometimes it is hard to decide where to go. Whether it is out to dinner, to the show, or to a party, they always have a good time. --Or do they?

Leisure activity: Time to be alone or with others

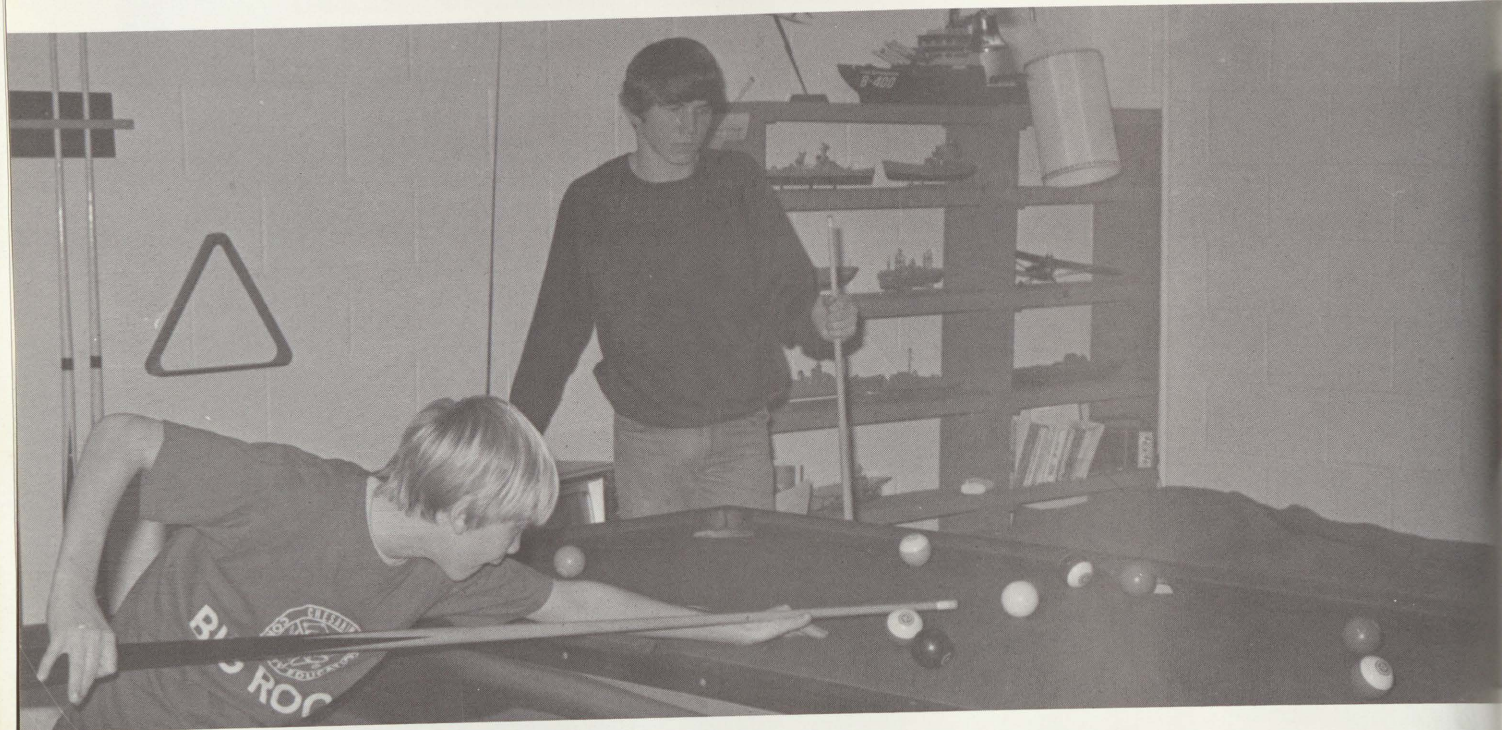

It is important for most people to spend time alone--doing what they want to do. These quiet moments give many a welcome chance to think out a problem, remember a good time, plan for tomorrow, or often just go blank and fall asleep. Those who spend time alone often can more fully appreciate the hours they spend with other people--having fun, communicating, and sharing.

Home life gives added responsibilities

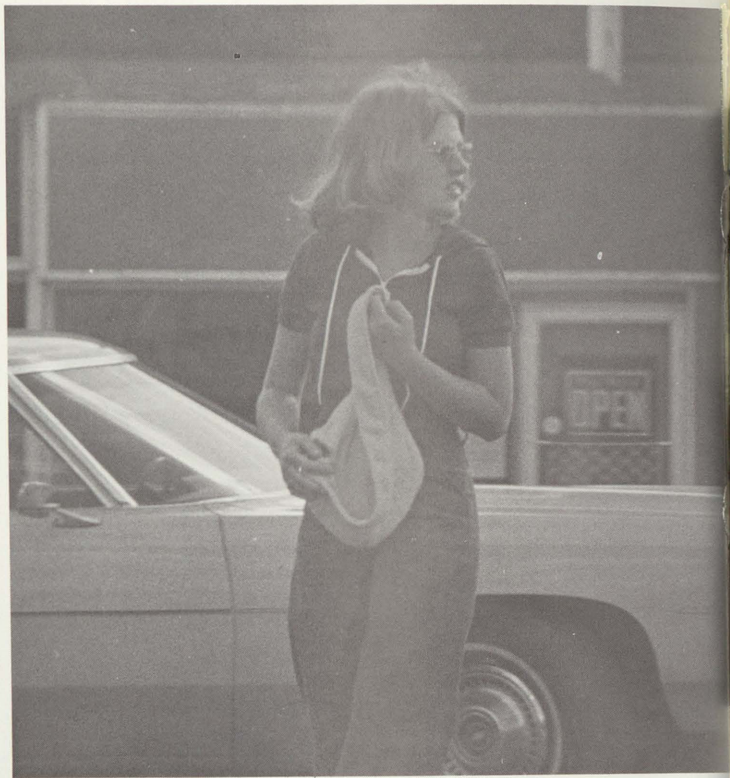

Hardly a day goes by in any family without some kind of bargaining taking place, whether it's cleaning the house, or just spending time with a member of the family. Family life is a give and take relationship.

Families are always there to enjoy the happiness of achievement while at the same time being able to understand when things go wrong.

Students like to do their own thing, even if it takes time to find what they enjoy most. Some may spend their time at their hobbies while others may go shopping. But there are different interests for different people.

Students have creative moments too

Danny Humpula shows pride and effort in one of his many creations.

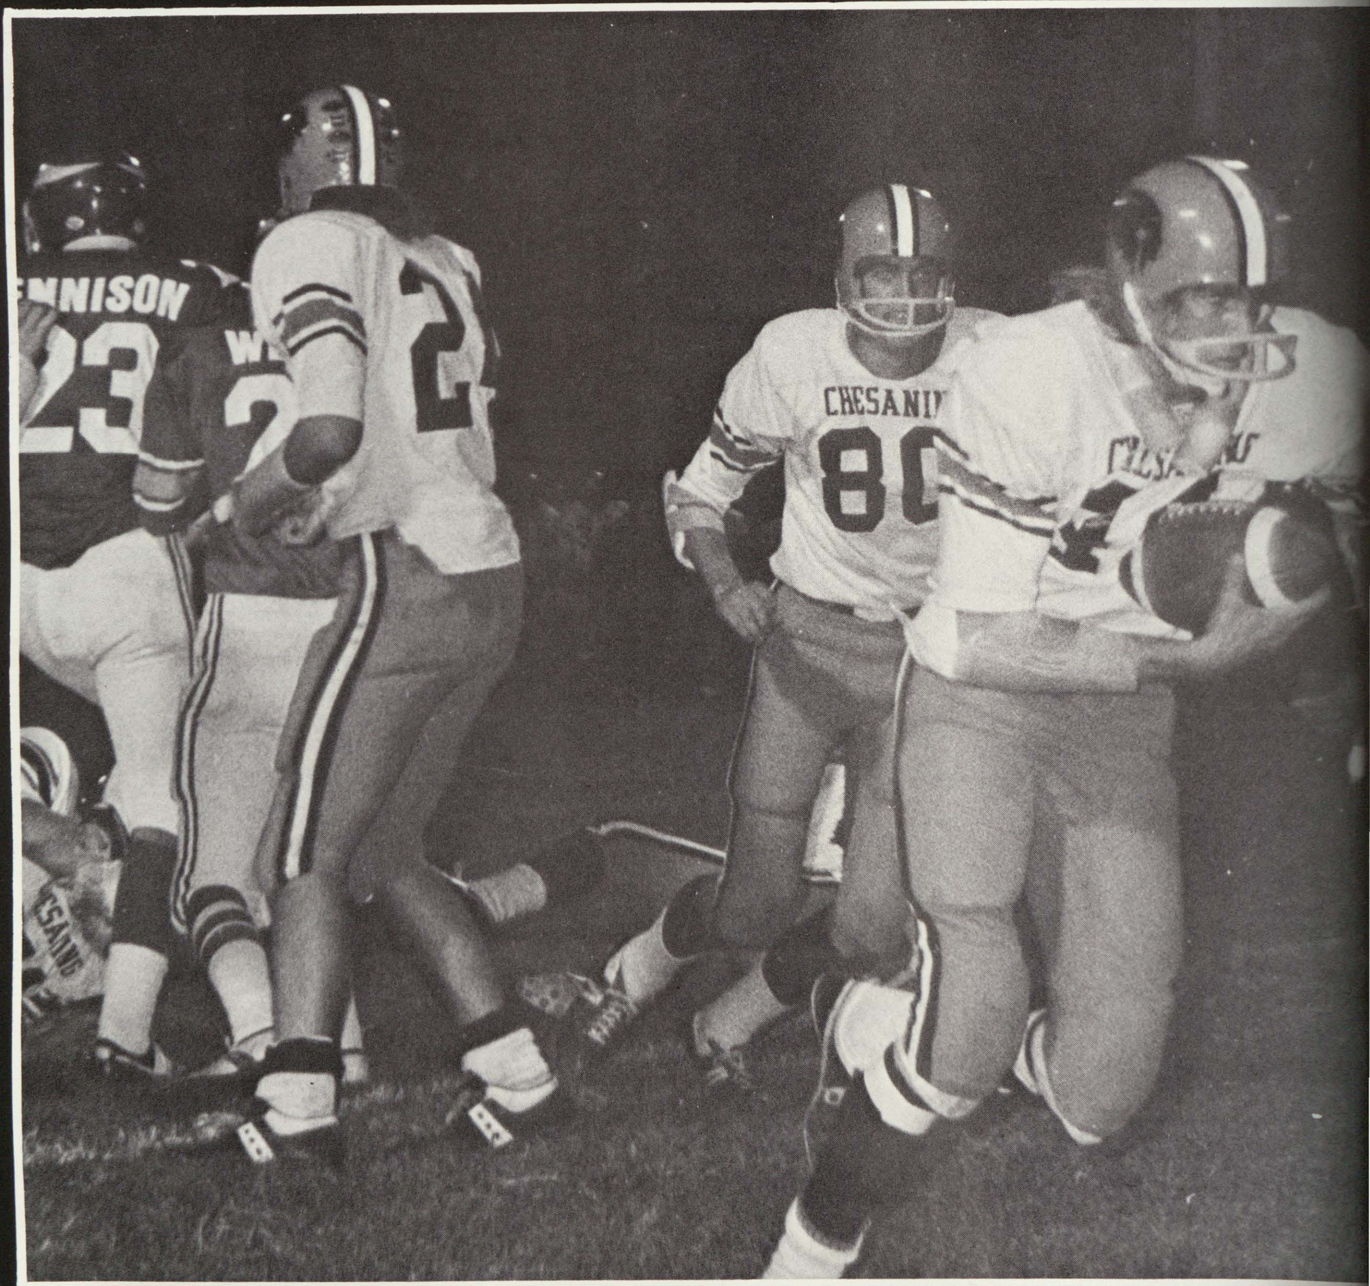

Sally Stanhope uses her creative talents on the piano.

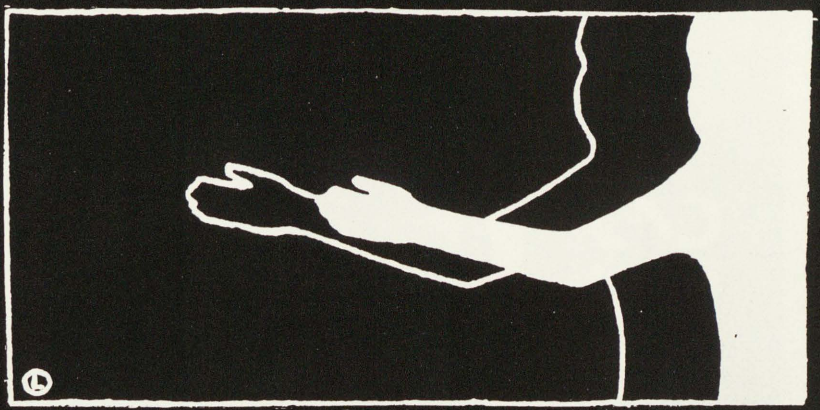

Louie Mahoney often finds time to experiment in his workshop.

Sports at C.H.S.

In all sports here at school it takes everyone.
It takes all of us to win our games,
As well as each individual player
Doing his part. It takes group effort,
Practice, physical strength and enthusiasm.
They all have one goal in mind and
That is to win. It makes each person
Feel good when they win, sometimes
Sad or mad when they lose.
We're each a part of sports, even if we're
A spectator and not a participant.
It takes each one of us to get things accomplished
And to achieve the one final goal.
To win -- it takes everyone!

Under the coaching of Duane Ferry and Jerry Molnar, Chesaning came very close to taking the Mid. Michigan B title in 1974. The non-conference games brought doom to Chesanings schedule as they lost all three. The 4th loss came on Homecoming where Swan Valley pulled out late in the game and ran away with Chesanings title hopes.

On the brighter side, all of Chesaning's 5 victories came against the other MMB conference teams. Pre-season forecasts had listed Chesaning as destined to finish poorly, but much effort went into turning the 1974 Indian Football season into one of the best in recent years. The Indians ended up second only to Swan Valley in the Mid. Michigan B Conference.

The Indian Cross Country Team for 1974 came up on the short end of a majority of their meets, but next season looks more promising. Ray Guerrero and Keith Neumeyer battled all season for top team honors. None of this year's team will be lost through graduation and next year Chesaning will hit the road with a tough experienced team.

The Girls Varsity Basketball team had an excellent year ending the season undefeated with 14 wins which made them Mid. Mich. B Champs. Next season looks even more promising with 4 of the 5 starters returning. The height of the team will be reduced slightly with the loss of the graduating seniors Rachael Stuart, Carol Larner, and Lisa Weigold. Carlene Ketchum, who has a 20 point game average, will also be returning and all will be looking forward to another perfect season.

Although the J.V.'s record only shows 4 wins, the team should be highly commended for their hard work and stamina. The new and inexperienced Indian team was unable to meet the tough competition from the other schools. Their final record was 4 wins and 8 losses.

Chesaning's Junior Varsity for 1974 had a better season than the record shows. All three wins were by at least 24 points and no losses were given up without a good fight. Much credit goes to the Coaches Sager and Stump and the whole team for a fine effort in the 1974 season.

A young, but talented Chesaning Golf team had a good year in 1974 and can look forward to more of the same in years to come. Chris Martin lead this years' team with low average. His graduation along with that of Ed Danek will be felt, but the rest of the team will be back shooting for a bigger and better season next year.

The fine records of the two '74 baseball teams may be credited to good coaching and the accelleration of some excellent ball players. The good coaching goes, of course to Mr. Ferry and Mr. Laskey who help the teams trhough their tight spots. Some of the excellent players for the J.V. team were Tony Polasek, Dan Beckman and the Schultz Brothers Arnie and Allen. For the Varsity team there were All-Conference award winners: Tim O'Rourke, John Mikulcik, and returning hill ace, Doug Mort. After having an impressive season last year, the Indians hope to return with another successful '75 season.

D.A.R. Good Citizen is chosen

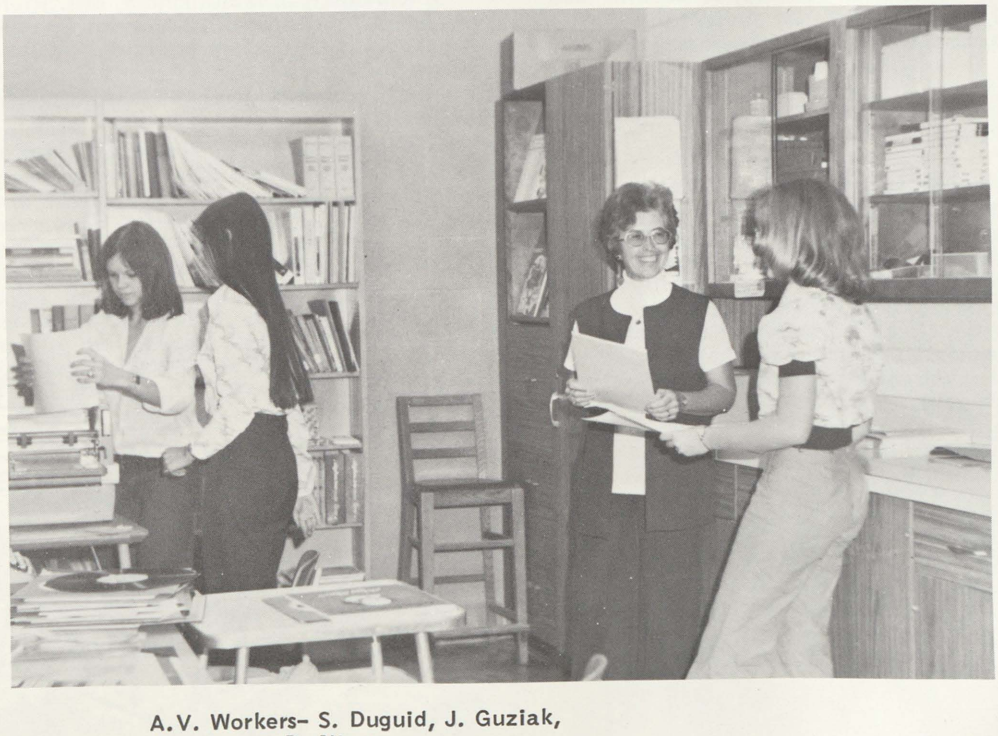

This year's 1974-75 D.A.R. Good Citizen is Deb Haney. She was selected along with two other girls by the Senior Class. After being selected by the Senior Class, she was chosen by the faculty. The qualities of the good citizen are based on dependability, which includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality. The second service includes cooperation, courtesy, and consideration of others. The Third, which is leadership, includes personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility, and the fourth which is patriotism, stresses unselfish loyalty to American ideals.

Future Homemakers of America, is quite different from what many people think. This club doesn't just teach you how to sew, etc., its purpose is also to help members better themselves mentally, and physically, and to help their communities. They go to state and regional meetings, and at the moment have many projects going.

In the past, the Science Club has planted trees in parks and have held bike-a-thons. Their main interest is to do the same projects as they have been doing in the past. Their future plans are to have various field trips which might include an astronomical observation poster, which will not be as elaborate as last year's trip to the Smithsonian Institute. The officers of the Science Club are: Louis Mahoney, President; Don Parshall, Vice-President; Pat Mahoney, Secretary-Treasurer.

In the past the Photo Club has been equipped for black and white developing, but now the ambitious members have gotten involved in color photo equipment. It also is an intriguing hobby because each year brings new enthusiasts. They have also sold candy to help keep the treasury in the $100 to $200 range. The present Photo Club consists of approximately 25 students. At present they have purchased new equipment such as a $279 enlarger, plastic bottles for dispensing the developing chemicals, another timer clock for the darkroom light, and a new wiring system for the light switches. Some present members work on the Yearbook or Newspaper Staff to add professional touches to each publication. Their future hope is to have some member work with Mr. King in compiling a comprehensive selection of school activities throughout the whole school system.

In the past Spanish Club has taken a trip to Detroit, to a Mexican restaurant, and to Greenfield Village. Besides that, they have taken two trips to the sand dunes in western Michigan plus a trip to Spain at Easter. Two years ago Spanish Club took a trip to Cedar Point. Future plans are to eat at a Mexican restaurant or taking another trip but it is uncertain as to where they will go. Present concern is to encourage the practice of Spanish and to familiarize the members with the customs, literature and to increase the friendship between the Spanish countries and ours. The club color is purple, with the violet as the official flower. Their motto is "Little By Little". The official song is ONE GOES A LONG WAY.

The Student Council is a group of students who are concerned about trying to encourage more student activities, initiative, and responsibility. They are concerned about promoting the best interests of the school and promoting the general activities of the school.

Their big activities are Homecoming, Teacher Interest day, and Field Day which is held in May. The Student Council members from Mid-Michigan B League Student Council meet throughout the year to share ideas and problems.

The officers of the Student Council are-

President- Bob Bell
Vice President- Shelley DeSander
Secretary- Mary Alden
Treasurer- Lori Aldrich

The Chesaning Marching Indians, proved again this year, that they are a championship organization on and off the field.

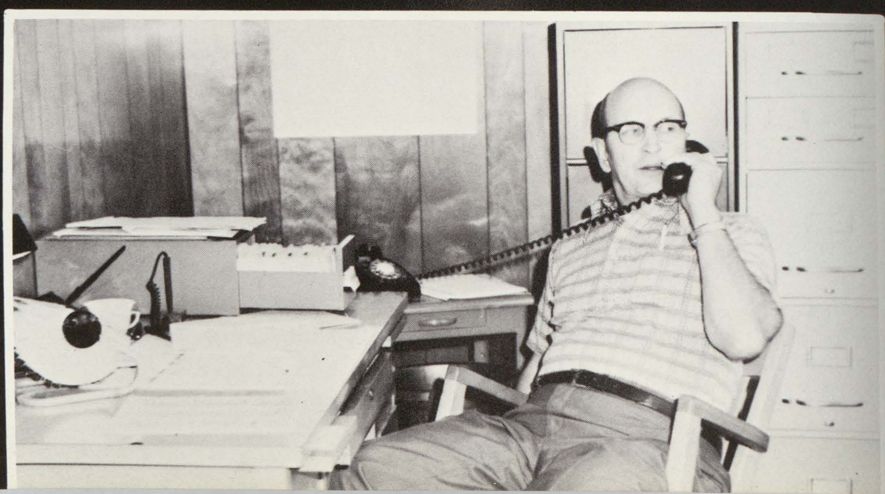

Under the direction of James King and Gary Rekittke, assisted by the talents of Kevin Cook and Judy Hawes, the Marching Indians are working towards "new blue horizons," in the field of marching.

ACADEMICS

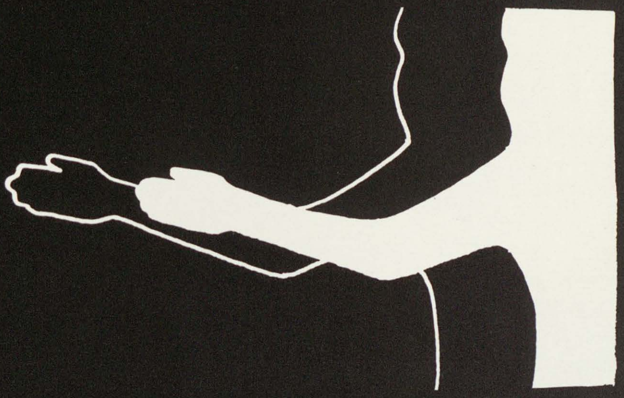

At first a school seems to be just a building but it is much more. The world is presented to each student through the classes that interest him. The traditional three R's are only a small part of a school, some of the many other departments represented are: Art, Music, Shop, Homemaking, Science, Business and Foreign Languages. The design of the modern school is to send each student on to his next step in life, whether it be a trade or a college education. A school and its people create a special world and should be explored by all.

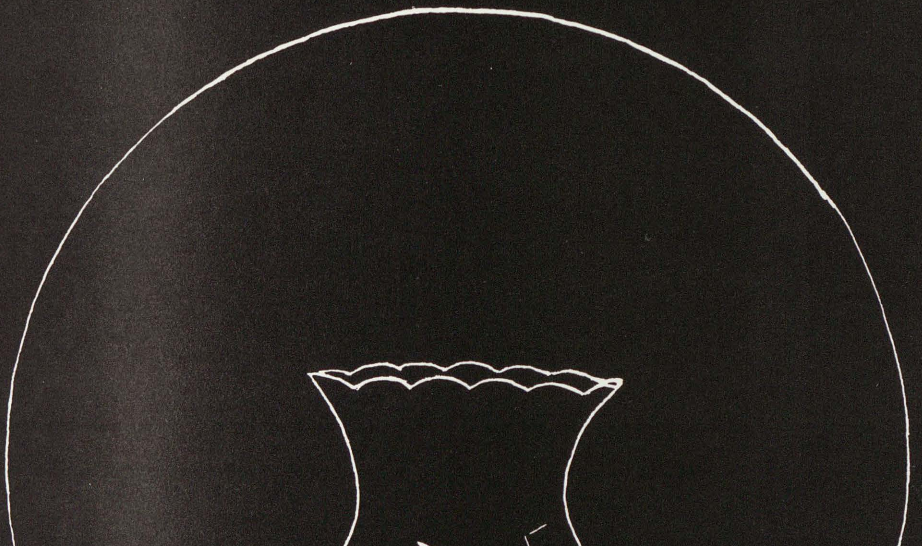

Reach out to the world
to know to grow to say yes to life to risk finding your real self

Making decisions isn't always easy

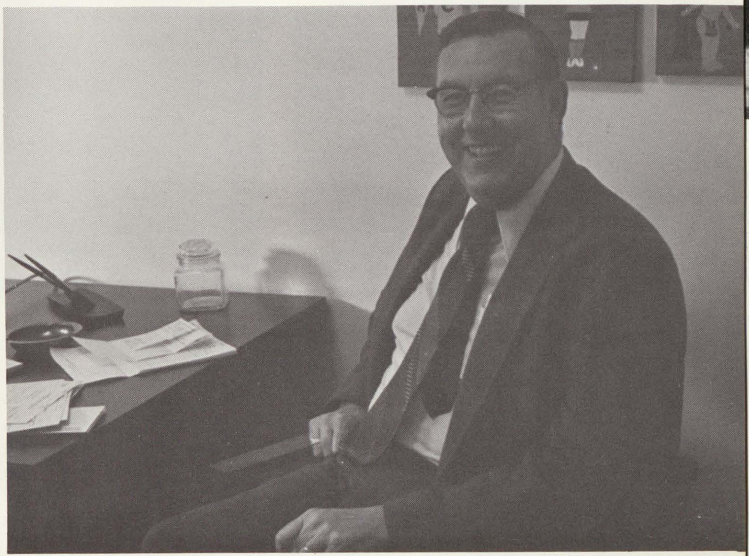

Making the decisions on how to run a school isn't always easy. Not only do you have to listen to the student's comments, but also the teacher's and administrators, as well as pressure from parent groups. All the facts must be weighed, and a decision must be made. It might not be the solution you had hoped for, but its always the best possible for the school system.

Problems, compromises, and decisions are all handled by administration

The Administration department has a lot of responsibilities. They must attend meetings, listen to comments and criticisms from both parents and faculty. They are responsible for maintaining the schools, arranging the curriculum and generally seeing to the welfare of the schools.

Education would be impossible without discipline and counseling. That's the job of these five very capable people. Counseling consists not only of arranging classes and schedules, but also advising students of future education and careers. The administrative and disciplinarian problems are quickly and easily handled by the Principal, Mr. Malcolm; and his assistant principal, Mr. O'Brien.

Keeping C.H.S. running is a full time job

It takes many people to keep a school running smoothly. Accounting, cooking, cleaning, and bookkeeping are all necessary chores to be dealt with every day. It takes alot of work, but it's well worth it.

Co-op, Shorthand, Typing, Are All Facets Of Business Department

JULIA ALBERT
JANICE BRETALL
EARL RICHEY
THOMAS SCHLACHTER

Above - Mr. Schlachter, who works with Co-op students, looks over some important papers.

There are many different skills taught in the Business Department. There is Business Law, Retailing, Typing, Bookkeeping, Model Office, Office Machines, and several other classes. These classes are offered to students who wish to take up a career such as being a secretary, or a business manager. They will also be helpful if one were to decide to become a journalist or a writer, because in some of these classes a student will learn to type and take shorthand and other skills useful to a writer or journalist.

Another facet of the Business Department is the Work Experience Program - better known as "Co-Op". Run by Mr. Schlachter, this program offers students practical experience in the business world for high school credit.

Just because a fella takes Foods, or Child Growth, or Housing and Home Furnishings, does that mean he has to give up his MANLINESS??!! No Way!! What's wrong with a guy learning how to cook, sew, take care of kids, or buy groceries? With times changing the way they are, it would be a good thing for the guys to learn survival skills. Our Home Economics Department offers many practical courses for guys and gals and the classes are proving to be popular.

Below: Mr. Stump is busy helping a student understand his history assignment. Above: During an argument, which he instigated; Mr. Ferry relaxes contently while his class continues to bicker.

Just think in twenty or twenty-five years your kids will be studying History in Junior and Senior High. They will be reviewing the 70's and 60's like we do the 50's and the 40's. When they start learning about all of our problems they will likely come home and ask you how you could live through all those trying situations and still be sane. Some of our problems that they will study will be the Vietnam War in which we lost many men. Another event would be the resignation of President Nixon, who was the first man who ever quit the Presidency of the United States. Some other hassles they will study will be the devaluation of the dollar, the pollution of air, land, and water, and all the different shortages. As you look back to our times you may wonder along with your children "Yeah, how DID I keep it all together??!"

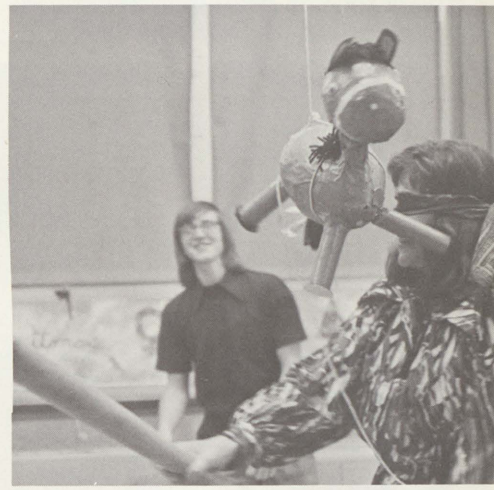

Students learn customs of foreign countries

Darryl Laitila
Bernadette McCrumb

As the world seems to get smaller bacause of better transportation we have a bigger chance to travel and so foreign languages are important for many to learn. C.H.S. offers two languages to students, French and Spanish. All kinds of fun activities happen in these classes besides just reading and writing. Ethnic festivities, puppet shows, foreign dinners, and T.V. commercials in another language add variety and heighten students' interest in learning the language and customs of other countries besides our own.

Top Right-Mrs. McCrumb is getting ready to strike at the piñata that her 6th hour class made. Below-Mrs. McCrumb misses her target, but it was a good try.

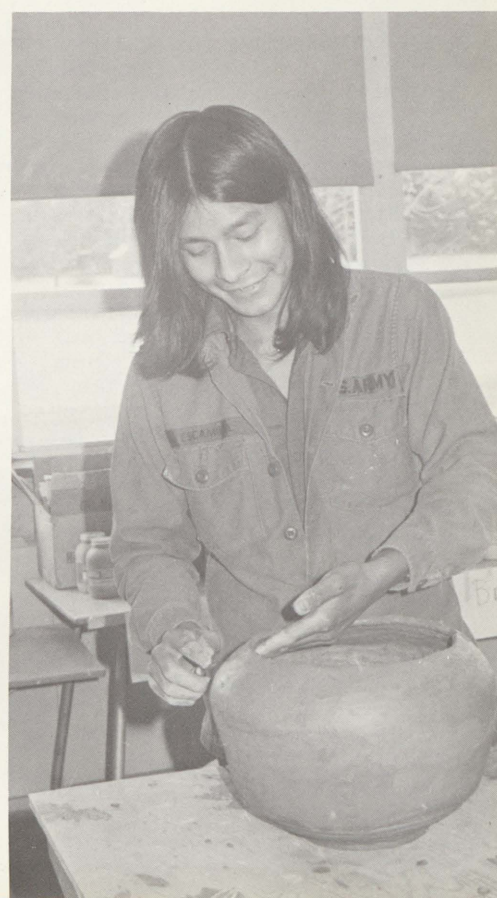

Art teachers open minds to creativity

Marg Bishop
Verna Hautamaki
Rosemary Hayes

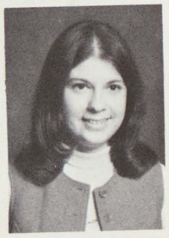

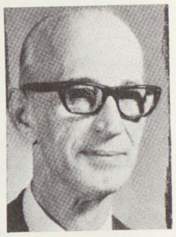

In art class one learns to do many different things. First year art is divided into two sections: Arts & Crafts. The terms for each kind of art are taught in the section. Doing Still Life drawings is one of the projects that is done in the art section. Then texture drawing and perspective drawing. The last project is a large painting, either a landscape or Still Life.

In the crafts section of first year art, students learn the terms that are associated with the crafts they are doing. Seed collages, clay and ceramic work, macrame, tie-dying, batiquing, and candle making are all important highlights of this class.

Matias Escamila works on a clay bowl in art. When it's finished it will look like a pot that came directly from Mexico.

Many students appreciate the greater freedom of choice they have since the English Department was granted permission to drop specific course requirements beyond the ninth grade and offer more of a smorgasbord assortment of classes. With only a few course exceptions, most English classes are now non-graded and of one semester.

Offerings now total 33 separate courses with such titles as In Orbit with English, Creative Writing, Current Magazine Literature, Mythology, Stagecraft and Acting, Yearbook, and Journalism. The latest course addition is the Reading Laboratory, which provides students with the opportunity of brushing up on specific reading skills or going in-depth on certain aspects of developmental reading.

As a department, we aim to make the English classes more meaningful for both the college-bound student and the one who will end his formal education with his high school graduation or before.

From General Math to Calculus, the Math department usually has something for everyone, and this year is no exception. Many careers today require extensive mathematic backgrounds. Some classes used this topic as a subject for special projects this year. All in all, the Math departments have had a very successful year.

The Highlight of the 74-75 Science year is the creation of Earth Science. This class gives students a greater choice in subjects available. It was created to provide a better understanding of the earth through Astronomy, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

Physical Education — controversial?

Mr. Marshall, "I can't stand that noise."

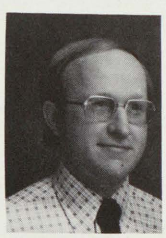

Carol Kapnick
Robert Sager

Phys. Ed. isn't so bad. It has some advantages and some disadvantages. Some of the advantages are learning how to play different sports, and healthy exercise. Some of the disadvantages are that it's required for freshmen and if you aren't athletic, then it's a real bummer.

Opinions of phys. ed. vary in degree: Paul Horny, "I'd rather be in Algebra," Ann McNeir "I'd rather have Phys. Ed. with Mr. Sager than Ms. Kapnick." Pat Brown "I really liked Phys. Ed., especially wrestling." Deb Holiday, "Pnys. Ed. and Advanced Phys. Ed. were both really great!"

Introduction to Ag. one facet of program

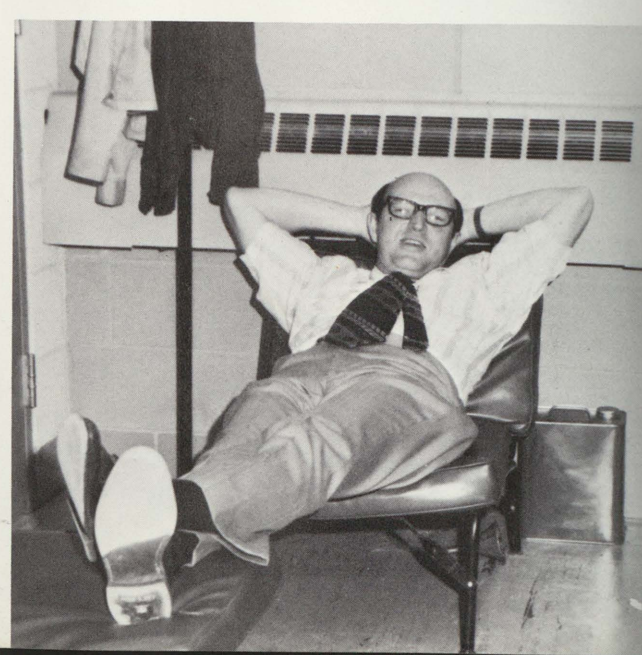

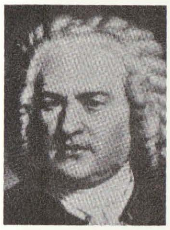

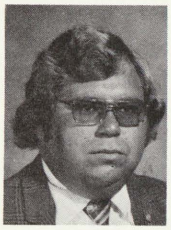

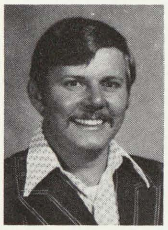

Norm Braun
Paul Semerad

Introduction to Ag. is one of the many interesting classes at C.H.S. The classes are composed of girls and boys alike, all interested in learning about the joys and sorrows of farming. Many of the students have projects such as: chicken broiler projects, raising beef cattle and pigs to take to the fair for showing and selling. Many of the field trips taken by the Ag. classes are to homes where the kids have their projects, and places of business that are related to the field of Agriculture. The class is interesting because the students do different things every day such as looking at raw eggs to find the place where the chicken's tail will start to grow.

In 1974 the 140 member Marching Indians of Chesaning brought to their appearance a long tradition of prominence in all phases of band activities in Michigan, the Mid-West, and Canada. The band has the distinction of winning nearly every major marching band contest in Michigan at one time or another. This fall found them winning their 4th consecutive Red Flannel Day Festival. At a W.M.U. Cavalcade of Bands the Color Guard was rated best in the State. While the Band was 3rd. Only 2.8 points out of 1st. The Chesaning Color Guard is under the direction of Gary Rekittke. The band is under the direction of James King and Kevin Cook, with Drum Majors Mike Bila and Tom Halka. Color Guard Captain Kathy Vrable.

The C.H.S. Vocal Music Department was made up of two fine groups, the Chamber Choir, and the Girls Choir. They did a mixed bag of music from Classical to Pop. During the year the groups presented a Christmas, Spring, and Pop concert as well as putting on programs in the Jr. High and Elementary schools. The smaller Ensembles that rehearse evenings also participated in Solo Ensemble Festivals as well as Choral Festivals with the larger groups. One of the high points of the year was the musical comedy presented by the Dept. in the spring. It can easily be said that this year was the busiest ever. The groups are directed by Ron Wilson and accompanied by Mrs. Robert Halka.

WE CARE

There is an alternative to long term hospitalization, costly private nursing, living alone, fear of accidents, and poor and irregular meals.

In todays modern nursing home nurses and nurses aides work together with many other professionals to provide quality care, balanced meals, safe surroundings and professional medical care and therapy, as needed.

The sensible solution to the problem of care for the elderly and the chronically ill is a nursing home where interests and needs are given special attention.

Come see for yourself and visit all of us here at the Editor, Introduction and Conclusion Pages, Loren Konkus, Photo Editor, Academics, Kathy Moore, Typing Editor, Academics, Business Manager, Rosemary Rosencrans, Copy Editor, Sophomores, Christy Seeley, Treasurer, Sophomores, Yvonne Sutter, Senior Editor, Becky Trzil, Student Life Editor, Jo Lane, Student Life, Jeanette Null, Ads, Kris Stephen, Organizations, Teresa Neitling, Organizations, Bob Conklin, Freshmen, Karen Mead, Freshmen, Chuck Palmer, Sports, Betty Brewer, Juniors.

Bruce, Well it sure was fun in Mr. Carlson's class wasn't it. I really

We wish to thank:

We, the yearbook staff, wish to give Miss Roller the recognition she deserves. This was her first year with the yearbook and her creativity made this yearbook special. She initiated changes while preserving tradition. We feel she did a fantastic job and we congratulate her for a job well done.

You stand on the crest of so many things rainbows, tears, eagles' wings...

Take that flight, take it
High as you can soar and swoop above the clouds, and in so doing
please, do all the things I never could.

See the glisten and glitter of dew on the morning grass that I was too blind to see.

Go now, taste the fine life that I was too fearful to try.

Listen, hear the universe call out to you? Reach out to it, enfold it in your youth and strength.

Go now. Take that flight, take it,
high as you can.

--Ms. Marcy Joy
